W. Randall Lolley
President

Greetings Southeasterners,

I heard about a fellow who, had a rather disturbing conversation with his wife. He said that men like Sylvester Stallone and Arnold Schwarzenegger are a dime a dozen. She said, "Here's a nickel. Get me six."

Within these pages are some rare human beings, available as your friends at considerable cost.

They are your fellow teachers and learners.

Welcome to this unusual world of God-called men and women preparing for their Christian ministries.

Happy lessons to you.

Devotedly,

W. Randall Lolley

Larry Hovis
President, Student Council

Autumn 1986

Dear Southeasterner,

Some of us have come from large cities while others have moved from small villages. Some have traveled long distances while others are native to this area. We come from various communities to form a new community called Southeastern.

Let's rejoice in our variety and diversity, knowing that we cannot make this journey without each other. Although our structured learning experiences take place in the classroom, perhaps our greatest learning occurs as we relate to one another.

Interpersonal relationships don't just happen - they require work. Let's study the pages of this book in order to build up and develop our new community.

In Community,

Larry Hovis
