Dear Dr. Montgomery,

My name is David Dona and I am a student at California Baptist College in Riverside. I am a member of the Socratic Club, a philosophy club here on campus. I called you concerning a speaking engagement for the night of Thursday, March 26^{at 7 PM}. Let me say that we are very grateful for accepting our invitation to speak. We are eagerly looking forward to this evening. Let me just make a personal remark at this point and say that you have been instrumental in my conversion by demonstrating that Christianity can be for the "tough-minded". It will certainly be a great privilege for me to make your acquaintance.

We have made good progress in our publicity efforts. This event will be announced through Riverside's Press Enterprise. It will be announced in the various departments of political science, philosophy, history, and religion at neighboring universities and colleges. Posters are up and we hope to have good attendance from the community. We look for a group of 50 to 75 in attendance.

The directions to our college campus and the meeting place are enclosed. Once again, thank you so much for kindly accepting this invitation. We look forward to seeing you on the twenty-sixth.

Yours sincerely,

David Dona
