SEMINARY TO OBSERVE
DAY OF PRAYER
FOR CONVENTION

Wake Forest, N. C. - In response to a call to prayer by the presidents of the Baptist state conventions, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary will observe May 19 as a special day of prayer for the Southern Baptist Convention, according to Southeastern President W. Randall Lolley.

"We share the concern of the state convention presidents and commit ourselves to seek God's guidance and strength during these days of turmoil within our national body," Lolley said. "We invite not only our Seminary family, but our fellow Baptists in this area to join us on May 19 at 2 o'clock for a time of soul-searching and re-dedication."

The meeting will be held in Binkley Chapel on the seminary campus.
