NEW ORLEANS CONVENTION NEWS UPDATE

NEW ORLEANS, LA. - Thursday's session was mainly a report from several agencies, action on three bylaw recommendations and the consideration of a report on 46 resolutions.

The bylaw changes generally had to do with advance release of nominations for the boards and agencies. All proposals were referred to the Executive Committee for further study.

The 46 resolutions covered everything, some diametrically opposed to others. The Resolutions Committee studied all of these and brought back 24 for consideration. Many of the resolutions were consistent with positions of the Moral Majority and the Reagan administration. Many of them such as supporting a constitutional amendment for prayers in the public schools were adopted.

However, a positive amendment on peace was adopted. A complete description of all the resolutions will be circulated next week.

The full report of the Committee on Boards was adopted, which included the election of Christine Gregory to Southeastern's Board of Trustees.
