

SEMINARY LIBRARY

Dr. Jack Clifford, Southeastern Seminary trustee from the D.C. Convention, has resigned from the Board of Trustees. He has accepted the pastorate of the Wilton Baptist Church, Wilton, Connecticut, necessitating his resignation as a trustee from D.C. This fine alumnus of Southeastern has served well as a trustee. Processes are already underway to have his replacement elected at New Orleans in June.

D.C. TRUSTEE
RESIGNS

Southeastern's first student ethics conference on "Decision-making in the 1980's: Peacemaking and Nuclear Policy" was held April 21-22. It was an outstanding success. The conference featured two plenary sessions and ten seminars as well as a one-act play, "Dunbar's Breman," and audiovisual presentations. Nancy Unterzuber was chairperson of the steering/planning committee.
