SYDOR L. STEALEY
PRESIDENT

My dear Fellow Students:

The writing of a brief introduction for this fifth edition of our Directory is one of the special privileges of a president which I greatly appreciate. There are more than 600 of us now and the Directory is more important than ever before as a help in knowing each other and in giving information about our greatly enlarged facilities.

I would dedicate it to my wonderful colleagues--faculty, students, staff. It will, I believe, prove useful in preserving memories and history and will serve to help many churches and pastors as they plan proper relationships.

May God bless all listed in our Directory and all whom we try to serve.

Sincerely,

SYDOR L. STEALEY
President

October 1, 1957

Dear Fellow Student:

As we look across our campus and see the changes that are wrought by the season, an analogy immediately gleams upon the horizon of homiletical minds. The leaves which had emerged with such health in the Spring, which had brought beauty, comfort, and protection through the summer, are now showing the strain of a purposeful life and preparing to pass from the scene. But even in their passing, they bid "Adieu" in an indescribable blaze of colorful pageantry.

Is this not also the dream of the seminary student? This institutional fellowship of learning provides a "tree of experience" through which we are succored into healthy blossoms of Christian service. Our student council seeks to share in this experience by bringing about a better relationship between the "tree" and the "leaves," the seminary and the students. If we would fulfill the purpose for our lives, we must take advantage of the opportunities which this Christ-centered fellowship offers during the Springtime of our development. As chosen, we have a status; as choosing, we have a task. Our status we cannot earn; our task, we must arduously perform. May we begin now to so work and develop that when life's autumn finally envelops us, we too may pass from this scene as glowing witnesses to a wonderful Lord.

Sincerely,

TOMMY FUNDERBURKE
Chairman of the Student
Co-ordinating Council
