NO. 65 — AVENUE OF CRYPTOMERIA TREES, NIKKO, JAPAN

No more beautiful trees can be found than these cryptomerias. Standing like the pillars of a cathedral two hundred feet high, with their dark green foliage above, they are imposing indeed, and the traveler never tires of riding or walking in their midst. This is the famous road, many miles in length, which leads to Nikko and to the celebrated shrines of the ancient Shoguns or rulers.
