SYDNOR L. STEALEY
PRESIDENT

November 5, 1956

My dear Fellow Students:

The writing of a brief introduction for this fourth edition of our Directory is one of the special privileges of a president which I greatly appreciate. There are more than 600 of us now and the Directory is more important than ever before as a help in knowing each other and in giving information about our greatly enlarged facilities.

I would dedicate it to my wonderful colleagues--faculty, students, staff. It will, I believe, prove useful in preserving memories and history and will serve to help many churches and pastors as they plan proper relationships.

May God bless all listed in our Directory and all whom we try to serve.

Sincerely,

SYDNOR L. STEALEY
President

October 23, 1956

Dear Fellow Student:

We preach and thoroughly believe in the stewardship of opportunity. This year, as never before, we Southeasterners will have the chance to exercise our stewardship of unparalleled opportunity. It is our privilege as a student body to be the first ever to enjoy the benefits and experience the difficulties of a Southeastern with a campus all her own.

This is surely a crucial juncture in the history of our school. It is not at all trite to assume that the Lord has laid upon us the responsibility for forming the embryo, and molding the future of a greater Southeastern. Ours is not an easy task.

The administration, faculty, and staff of our Seminary are keenly aware of our responsibility. We can count on their assistance in making our task an enjoyable one. Our student body is thoroughly organized through the Student Coordinating Council. This Council deserves and requires your support. Study your student constitution and let your councilmen know how they can assist you.

Our fellowship at Southeastern is profound and enriching. You are an integral part of the fellowship. There resides within our Seminary family the potential to produce the best year yet--let's make that our aim. Our Christ commands it; our task demands it.

Sincerely,

RANDALL LOLLEY
Chairman, Student Co-ordinating Council
