Many of the state conventions met during November. Southeastern seminary representatives attended fifteen of them. Ten alumni chapters met. Reports indicate that the meetings were positive and affirmative of the school's theological educational endeavor. The alumni enthusiastically endorsed word about the start of the Ledford Student Center project.

The contract has been negotiated, and work has begun, on the Ledford Student Center. Central Builders, Richmond, Virginia are the general contractors. Phase I and Phase II of the project will weave precisely together if the go ahead for Phase II can be given before the end of ten months' construction on Phase I.

The seminary has participated in a truly far-reaching "charge of of ministry" with the Confederate Heights Baptist Church. The church decided to disband and give their Richmond, Virginia property to the seminary to serve as seed money for a ministry to ministers needing help and re-energizing following crises in their families and churches.
