

Tuesday, October 2, was Good Neighbor Day at Southeastern. Almost 100 pastors and directors of missions from the immediate region came to the campus for worship, sharing, food, and golf. The event included the Fall Lectures by Dr. James Ashbrook.

GOOD NEIGHBOR DAY

The North Carolina Baptist State Convention hosted Southeastern faculty and administrative officers in the seminary cafeteria October 5. The program leaders of the Convention joined Dr. Cecil Ray, Executive Secretary, to share with seminary personnel the priorities of the Convention for the 1980's. Particular focus was on church growth. Workgroups from the Convention and the Seminary are continuing the dialogue.

STATE CONVENTION

The Student/Field Ministries section of the Formation in Ministry Council sponsored the first Career Assessment Day for entering students, October 8. The day was designed to assist the first year seminarians to get a focus on their call and direction of preparation for ministry. Grady Nutt concluded the event in a packed Binkley Chapel.

CAREER ASSESSMENT

The student-led Fall Revival was held on campus October 9-11. Students, administrators, and faculty shared testimonies. Students were responsible for the music and the preaching. The services were well attended and effective.

FALL REVIVAL

The Development Council held their semi-annual meeting on campus October 14-15. Progress reports were shared and plans projected for the special campaign to raise $3,500,000 for endowment and capital needs.

SPECIAL CAMPAIGN

The special campaign received its largest gift ever during the month. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ledford, Raleigh, N. C. established a Trust to benefit Southeastern. The corpus was $250,000. With this gift the campaign nears the half way point. Mr. Ledford was the special campaign director for the Raleigh campaign.

The Seminary has accepted 56 units of the new townhouses. Forty units are occupied. The remaining 16 units will not be leased until the permanent street has been completed. The contractors are in place working on the street at present. It is projected to be completed before Thanksgiving.
