SOUTHEASTERN SEMINARY GETS MAJOR GIFT FROM VIRGINIA FAMILY

WAKE FOREST, N.C. - A Virginia family has made a substantial gift to Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. Dulcie H. Potter, wife of the late I. Lee Potter of Arlington, has made a memorial gift to assist the school's building program and to set up a major scholarship fund, according to President W. Randall Lolley.

The gift to the building fund will permit construction of the planned student center to proceed earlier than originally scheduled.

The remainder of the gift will establish the I. Lee and Dulcie H. Potter Scholarship Fund to assist students at the seminary on the basis of need, scholarship and character.

The late I. Lee Potter, who died in 1983, was a well known real estate investor in northern Virginia, and was active for many years in Republican politics on state and national levels. He was a member of Memorial Baptist Church in Arlington, and was active with the American Cancer Society.
